The Cheryl King Trust (CKT) takes its responsibilities to safeguarding children and vulnerable adults very seriously.

CKT is a funding rather than delivery organisation. As such it does not generally work directly with children or vulnerable adults but rather provides funds to those who do.

When CKT provides funds, we will require written assurance that satisfactory policies are in place, to ensure proper safeguarding procedures are followed and that those who have direct contact with children and vulnerable adults will have undergone a DBS (Disclosure and Barring Service) check.

If children or vulnerable adults are present at any fund-raising events organised by CKT the management of safeguarding risk will be part of the risk assessment for the event.
